

Jacob Lutz

Mrs. Stanford

ENG 231

18 November 2016

Trump or Dump?

In 2016, there are many new changes in the United States of America. One of these changes is President Elect Donald Trump. Donald Trump is known for his business skills but after the many recent debates and rallies he is known for many other things. Many people are still unsure of Trump's intentions as President of the United States. Many of his views are radical and would cause a lot of harm to The United States.

President elect Donald Trump is on a path of destruction in the United States. In an article from the New York Times, "If he follows through on his ideas, we could face higher prices on imported goods, rising interest rates, substantial inflation and a further shift of wealth to the upper classes" (Rattner 2016). The economy would be greatly affected by these changes. Not only the United States' economy but the world economy as well because it is so closely entwined. From the New York Times, "Trade, which has been proved to stimulate economic growth both here and abroad, has already been slowing, and Mr. Trump is determined to slow it further" (Rattner 2016). This quote helps to prove that Donald Trump is not fit to be president of the United States. A president like Donald Trump would only hurt the United States and the many countries that depend on us such as countries in the middle east.

Immigrants are very important to our economy, Trumps plan to deport many of these immigrants would cost $400 billion to $600 billion dollars (Rattner 2016). The Trump controversy does not stop with immigrants in the United States.

Trump has a plan to remove certain parts of Obama Care, this directly hurts the American population. Charles from the New York Times states, “My thoughts are with the poor people afflicted by ill health who were finally able to receive medical insurance coverage, sometimes lifesaving coverage, and the fear they must feel now that there is a president committed to repealing and replacing it” (Blow 2016). It’s almost as if Donald Trump plans to do more harm than good to anyone who lives in the United States. Donald Trump has also put target on America’s back, “They believe he will make America weaker, the trans-Atlantic alliance weaker, and the American-butressed post-1945 global order weaker (Cohen 2016). This quote talks about how leaders from other countries such as Russia and Iran favored Donald Trump because they think he’ll make us weaker. Donald Trump could put us in hot water with NATO because of the things he said about it and our allies. Many people are left wondering if America will still be able to protect their rights that they have had for so many years (Cohen 2016). Donald Trump could be leading a new generation of Americans in an image that we might not want to see. Even though America just had its first black president, racism was still high and it can only be seen to get higher. Other forms of hate such as sexism could also rise with Trump’s years in office (Cohen 2016). This means more riots in the streets and a torn United States.

During his acceptance speech Trump talks about coming together as one united people. Some people find these statements as lies. Donald Trump has gotten support from both Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama. Both congratulated him on his speech “We owe him an open mind and a chance to lead”, Mrs. Clinton said (The Editorial Board 2016). Within Hillary’s speech to Donald Trump she talks about how the American Dream is big enough for all people and all races. Barack Obama also promised Trump a smooth transition even though Donald Trump was the same man who told lies about him. Both Hillary and Barack believe that Donald Trump is right in the sense that America needs unity (The Editorial Board 2016). Without unity the United States would be in a state of chaos. With today’s society people love nothing more than rioting in the streets, people in the United States need something to rally around and bring them all together. For many of us we hope that person could be Donald Trump.

In a quote from the New York Times, “It’s a strange, distressing situation for citizens to be in — to acknowledge the danger of having a reckless, unqualified leader, while maintaining respect for the office he holds” (The Editorial Board 2016). Even though many people don’t approve of Donald Trump, there is not much that can be done about him. There are many other things in this world that need dealt with other than who the president of the United States is. For some people it may involve money, for others it could mean bringing water to villages in need. We can’t deny that Donald Trump did some very horrendous things during his campaign events, his lies, may not be lies at all and he’ll follow through with what he has said (The Editorial Board 2016). Only time will tell. It is up to the American people to help make sure that Donald Trump is not the dump that he could be. We must all work together to make America great again!

Work Cited

Rattner, Steven. "Trump's Economic Prescription. First: Do Harm." The New York Times. The New York Times Company, 11 Nov. 2016. Web. 18 Nov. 2016.

Cohen, Roger. "President Donald Trump." The New York Times. The New York Times Company, 9 Nov. 2016. Web. 18 Nov. 2016.

Blow, Charles M. "America Elects a Bigot." The New York Times. The New York Times Company, 10 Nov. 2016. Web. 18 Nov. 2016.

The Editorial Board. "Being American in the Trump Years." The New York Times. The New York Times Company, 9 Nov. 2016. Web. 18 Nov. 2016.